GENERAL FUNDING REQUIREMENTS

Please note: Adherence to these requirements does not guarantee eligibility or that a grant request will be funded. Pre-grant meetings with staff are a required first step in our grant application process. Grant decisions are made by the Rotary Charities Board based on current priorities and availability of funds. See the Application & Review Process in each grant category section for more details.

ORGANIZATIONAL ELIGIBILITY – ALL GRANT TYPES

Eligible applicants for funding include 501(c)(3) tax-exempt organizations, the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians, local units of government, and local school districts serving Antrim, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska and Leelanau Counties.

Private foundations and individuals are not eligible for grant funding.

Start-up organizations are not eligible for Rotary Charities grants. Prior to applying, the applicant should have: 501(c)(3) status and have been providing services for at least one year.

For all grant categories, applications from a unit of government, an organization serving as a fiscal sponsor, or a school district must attach documentation of approval by the governing body that is ultimately responsible for the grant funds and implementation.

FISCAL SPONSORSHIP

Other applicants, including partnerships and networks, are encouraged to apply using an eligible applicant as a fiscal sponsor. Applicants applying under a fiscal sponsor must provide a signed fiscal sponsorship agreement. More information about fiscal sponsorship, including sample agreements, can be found at:

- Council on Nonprofits - Fiscal Sponsorship
- National Network of Fiscal Sponsorships Guidelines for Comprehensive Fiscal Sponsorship

REQUEST ELIGIBILITY

It is allowable to have active grants in one of the biannual categories – Assets for Thriving Communities or Systems Change Accelerator – concurrent with a grant in one of the monthly categories – Seed Grants and Learning Fund. Current grants must be closed to apply for a new grant in the same category.

Direct applicants may not submit more than one application in one category during the same grant cycle. Organizations serving as a fiscal sponsor may be able to submit more than one application for different initiatives with prior approval from Rotary Charities staff.

Proposals from faith-based organizations must address community needs or enhance the quality of life for citizens of the region and:

- Have a clearly demonstrated public benefit
- Be fully accessible to people regardless of their individual religious creed or convictions
- Respect diversity of religious and spiritual beliefs of all individuals

Proposals will not be considered for any religious programs or services that:

No part of a grant may be used for, or applied to:

- Work completed prior to an award. This includes, but is not limited to: debt service, unpaid invoices, and staff or consultant time.
- Endowment funds, unless such support is considered necessary to carry out other Rotary Charities objectives.

Grants to school districts will be directed to programs and facilities that serve the entire district and not benefit only a single building. Grants for school curriculum will generally not be considered.

Requests or grants to meet immediate short-term emergency needs of clients (for rent payment, gas money, food, etc.) will generally not be considered.

GRANT CATEGORIES

ASSETS FOR THRIVING COMMUNITIES

CATEGORY OVERVIEW – ASSETS FOR THRIVING COMMUNITIES

Community assets that are available to everyone are the building blocks of a fair, thriving and resilient region. Our Assets for Thriving Community grants support the infrastructure & initiatives our neighbors need.

WHAT WE FUND

We support initiatives that develop, strengthen, or enhance community assets that are accessible to all or expand the reach of an existing asset. This grant category is designed for capital projects and programmatic initiatives that have already completed substantial groundwork, including community engagement, building relationships with stakeholders, and conducting research to inform their strategy.

Community input is vital in identifying what is best for our communities, and we prioritize assets that have been recognized by stakeholders as important to improving quality of life. Applicants are encouraged to demonstrate a strong community engagement strategy and a transparent decision-making process. Please note that this category is not typically intended to fund the engagement process itself. If your project focuses on community engagement, we recommend considering a Seed Grant instead.

POTENTIAL GRANT USES Including but not limited to:
Multi-modal transportation Affordable housing Accessible recreation Arts & culture Energy (efficiency, conservation, renewable)	Child welfare Land preservation Health and wellbeing Education

Volunteer Review – The full application and review summary are then evaluated by two Rotarian volunteer reviewers.

Applicant Response – If reviewers have questions, they will be compiled, and applicants will have the opportunity to respond in writing and/or during the review meeting.

Notification – Applicants are typically notified of funding decisions within days of the Board meeting.

SYSTEMS CHANGE ACCELERATOR

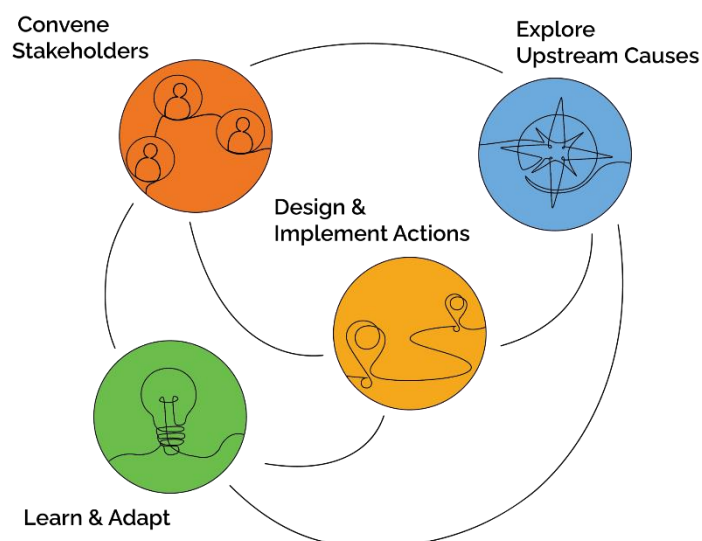

CATEGORY OVERVIEW – SYSTEMS CHANGE ACCELERATOR

We support collaborative initiatives that target the root causes of complex problems. Our Systems Change Accelerator grants invest in problem solving that is different from business as usual, shifting resources, structures, and mindsets for lasting change.

Rotary Charities believes that for our communities to thrive we need to tackle our most entrenched, complex problems at their roots. Many interconnected factors together often end up producing results nobody wants – poverty, climate change, health inequities, homelessness. To begin to solve these problems and not just keep treating the symptoms over and over again, we believe we must apply a different problem-solving approach that aims at systems change.

A Systems Change Approach

There are many frameworks and approaches to systems change; we do not prescribe any one. However, four key strategies are at the heart of most approaches. First changemakers convene and commit to other stakeholders in the system, including those most affected by the issue, see the system around a problem together, design and implement actions that change that system so it functions differently, and learn all along the way and adapt accordingly. The intended impact of systems change is both durable and broad progress on a complex problem, beyond what any one organization could achieve alone.

Grant Purpose

Most of the work in the social sector targets the people or environments experiencing a problem to help them transcend the problem. These efforts are critical if we have systems that are not working for everyone. But, if this is all we do, our problems will persist. Systems change strategies offer an upstream complement by targeting the systemic factors creating the problem.

Rotary Charities System Change Accelerator Grants are awards intended to support innovations that target root causes of complex community problems leading to a more fair, thriving and resilient region.

These grants support systems change strategies that restructure how things work and aim to change policies, practices, relationships, resource flows, relationships, power and mental models so that fewer and fewer people or environments ever experience a problem.

Powerful strategies involve a constellation of actions: multiple, complementary actions carried out by stakeholders throughout the system. They create greater equity in a system by considering who experiences the problem most severely and designing actions that intentionally target the roots of those inequities.

What complex problems are we interested in?

We do not limit funding to specific areas, but rather are open to any that, if addressed, will lead to a more fair, thriving, and resilient region for all. Ideally, applicants will know the following about the problem they are targeting before applying:

- The status of the complex problem, how many are experiencing it or are affected by it, what groups of people are affected most by the problem and why;
- What the typical approach to the problem has been, what has been tried, what is the “status quo;”
- Why this is a good time to disrupt this status quo. Systems will naturally uphold the status quo until they must change. Systems change efforts are most successful when the timing is right for change.

What work is required before an application?

This grant category is meant for teams that have done some significant groundwork together prior to applying. Rotary Charities supports all stages of systems change work. However, for this grant, applicants will apply after they have come together with other diverse stakeholders, looked at what may be causing the current levels of the complex problem they are addressing, found potential leverage points and designed a constellation of actions that will act on those leverage points to change the system that is creating the problem.

Our Seed Grants can fund early aspects of a systems change process such as:

- Convening stakeholders to better understand a community problem
- Planning or piloting new strategies and/or aligning actions with others
- Assessing and building the capacity of organizations, partners, or networks to move forward together
- Network convening around a complex community issue
- Organization, partner, or network development activities

For complete details about our Seed Grants and their potential funding uses, please see the Seed Grant Category Overview in this document.

Our Learning Fund is also available as a resource to support pursuing systems change-related education or professional development opportunities. More information about our Learning Fund, including eligibility and the application link, is available on our website.

To get more familiar with these concepts, you may want to review some of the definitions and resources highlighted at the end of this document. We also offer workshops and other learning opportunities throughout the year. You can find out about those by signing up for our newsletter and visiting our Events Calendar. If you are ready to go a little deeper, your team may want to sign up for a free online course called Systems Practice: How to move from Impossible to Impact, Ashoka's Systems Change Crash Course, or courses through the School of Systems Change. Rotary Charities offers free coaches to teams who are interested in taking a course. Contact Freya Bradford to learn more, fbradford@rotarycharities.org. These courses are suggested as resources that may be helpful. We do not prescribe any precise approach to systems change and are open to considering any process of system change that meets our criteria.

POTENTIAL GRANT USES

Grants may be for a constellation of actions by several organizations aimed at leverage points for the same problem. Grants can be used for innovations that are intended to change systems by shifting the underlying structures that keep problems in place: changes in system processes, policies, resource flows, relationships, power structures, and mindsets.

The actions that will change a system are unique to the context of that system. Some actions that have been funded in previous years:

- Convening of cross-sector networks that are working together to share information and best practices, align work more effectively, experiment with new innovations and learn
- Advocacy work to increase public or legislative support
- Communication work to change public narratives about a problem or solution
- Stipends to compensate stakeholders experiencing a problem to participate in creating solutions
- Creating new standards for data collection, sharing and use between organizations

EXAMPLE Provided by Housing North Complex Community Problem: Lack of affordable housing in the region

System/Context around the problem	Proposed Constellation of Actions
A network of diverse stakeholders explored the context surrounding the region's affordable housing crisis and found that factors were working together in a way that is creating several confounding patterns: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The cost of development is high - The return on investment for affordable workforce housing is extremely low - The process of development is extremely complex - The perception of the problem at the public level and the legislative level are 	An organizing entity will work to align and support the actions of several partner organizations to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Develop and share local data and public messaging about the problem - Advocate for enabling legislation at the state level that will increase local governmental tools and subsidies - Provide education and resources to local governments and the public on long-term development costs and procedures - Provide education and resources to developers on community goals and best practices for development in this region

often inaccurate and working against potential solutions	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Provide developers, employers and communities with one-stop information and expertise to navigate the development process from pre-development to post-development compliance activities - Aid developers in accessing and braiding multiple financing sources

LEARNING – A SHARED COMMITMENT

Systems change as an intentional approach to social change is relatively new. Not many funders and changemakers are organizing their work in this way. We believe that learning together as we go must be a shared commitment. We ask that applicants demonstrate a commitment to learning by designating a Learning Steward from your team and budgeting for their time (grant funds be used for this person's time). You are encouraged to designate a Learning Steward from an organization that is not the primary fiscal agent for this proposal.

The Learning Steward will commit to:

- Join a Systems Change Community of Practice with other grantees that meets quarterly (other team members are welcome as well but not required). The Community of Practice is a facilitated group focused on learning and co-designed around the needs of the cohort.
- Work with Rotary Charities staff and consultants to create processes custom to your team that will help you collect information and stories that will document your team's unique learning journey, and help us all notice early signals of a changing system together.
- Capture and share your team's unique learning journey.

Rotary Charities is committed to:

- Provide facilitation for the Community of Practice that will create a brave space to share and explore successes and challenges.
- Work with Learning Stewards to articulate processes that will help document each team's learning.
- Amplify each team's story (with permission) through our communications channels. We hope to help inspire others, build the body of knowledge around this type of work, and attract more resources.

SEED GRANTS

CATEGORY OVERVIEW – SEED GRANTS

We support the convening, planning & capacity building that make projects possible. Our Seed Grants make small investments with potential for big impact.

WHAT WE FUND

Seed Grants fund the beginning stages of projects with the potential for broad community impact that may eventually be strong applicants for an Assets for Thriving Communities grant, or a Systems Change Accelerator grant.

Finding the way into deeper collaboration, learning and adapting often requires that we pause and take stock of where we are and where we want to go. Whether you're developing a new community asset or trying to change an entrenched system, new ways of working may require coaching, consulting, and facilitated processes. Seed Grants can help support this type of groundwork that must happen before the rubber ever meets the road. You have heard us and others say, "go slow to go fast." Seed Grants are part of our "patient capital" that helps build strong foundations for deeper impact.

POTENTIAL GRANT USES

Including, but not limited to what is listed here. Bring your ideas that best suit your project needs.

- Convening stakeholders to better understand a community problem or need, and developing opportunities for development
- Community planning to implement high-priority projects
- Feasibility studies, market analyses, needs assessments, or other research
- Planning or piloting new strategies and/or aligning actions with others
- Assessing and building the capacity of organizations, partners, or networks to move forward together
- Network convening around a complex community issue
- Organization, partner or network development activities – especially those that will improve connectivity, learning and the ability to adapt and respond to changing conditions

Decision Notification – Applicants will receive notification of approval or denial within two weeks, typically sooner.

Funding Disbursement – Approved requests will be processed during the next regularly scheduled check run at the middle or end of the month. Payments will be made to organizations, not individuals.

Post-Learning Survey – Participants must complete a brief Learning Fund Evaluation Survey within 30 days of completing the learning experience. Survey results help us improve and adapt the program to better support future applicants.

GRANT CRITERIA

Over the years, we've learned from our grantees that the most impactful projects are those that are driven by a commitment to meaningful partnerships, creative problem-solving, and a willingness to evolve in response to new challenges. These values are reflected in Rotary Charities' Guiding Principles—Inclusive, Collaborative, Resourceful, Reflective, Adaptive, and Aligned—which shape our approach to funding and support. Our grant application questions are intentionally designed to help applicants demonstrate how their work aligns with these principles, ensuring that funded projects are well-positioned for lasting impact.

In addition to alignment of our grant criteria, decisions are also influenced by factors such as the number of applications, the amount of funding available, and broader community needs and priorities.

Inclusive – Sustainable solutions emerge when those most affected by an issue are involved in shaping the path forward. We prioritize approaches that center diverse perspectives, amplify community voices, and ensure decision-making power is shared.

Collaborative – Meaningful change happens when we work together. Whether through partnerships, shared leadership, or collective action, we support initiatives that build strong relationships and leverage the strengths of many.

Resourceful – The most effective solutions make the most of what is already available. We encourage creativity in using existing knowledge, assets, and infrastructure to drive sustainable impact.

Reflective – Growth happens when we take time to learn. We value approaches that integrate reflection into daily work, draw insights from broader contexts, and apply learning to strengthen impact.

Adaptive – Change is constant, and successful initiatives are built to evolve. We support efforts that embrace flexibility, test new ideas, and refine strategies based on real-time learning.

Aligned – We are part of a larger system, and our work is stronger when it connects to others. We invest in efforts that contribute to a shared vision, complement existing initiatives, and move toward a more just, thriving, and resilient region.

APPENDIX 3: BUDGET FORM – ASSETS FOR THRIVING COMMUNITIES, SYSTEMS CHANGE ACCELERATOR, SEED GRANTS

The project budget form is included within the application, as shown below. Systems Change Accelerator applications require a budget for each year of your project, detailing revenue and expenses. Seed and Assets for Thriving Communities grants require an overall project budget, not broken down by year if the grant period exceeds one year. If you prefer, you can skip the embedded form and instead upload your own budget document to the end of the application.

APPENDIX 4: GLOSSARY OF TERMS WE USE

Capacity building: Activities that strengthen an organization's effectiveness, including training and infrastructure development.

Change the system: Unlike direct service projects, systems change works on the underlying structures of a system by shifting processes, practices, relationships, resources, and/or policy. This also requires shifting and supporting new mindsets, building trust and deep connections to others working in the system, and engaging those most affected by the system. The intended impact of systems change is both durable and broad progress on a complex problem, beyond what any one actor could achieve alone.

Community asset: A resource, service, or infrastructure that improves quality of life in a community.

Community of Practice: Groups of people who share a concern or a passion for something they do and learn how to do it better as they interact regularly. (Etienne Wenger)

Complex community problem: A community problem that defies any singular solution. There may be disagreement about what is causing a problem and/or what to do about it. Many factors influence complex problems that are difficult to predict and influence (political, social, economic, attitudinal).

Context around a complex problem: Various factors and how they are working together in a way that is creating an entrenched problem. Factors are things like policies, practices, resource flows, relationships and connections, power dynamics, and mental models.

Fiscal sponsorship: A formal arrangement in which a 501(c)(3) nonprofit sponsors a project that may not have its own tax-exempt status.

Learning Steward: A designated person who will ensure your team is intentionally learning and adapting based on new insights. With support from Rotary Charities, they will help identify indicators of systems change that are specific to your context and develop processes to collect and share data and stories about changing patterns. All Systems Change Accelerator applicants are required to designate a Learning Steward in their application.

Leverage: In this context, leverage means the other partners, grants or resources you will be able to attract to your work as a result of this grant and how it will change your impact.

Problems at their roots: Tackling the dynamics or conditions that created the problem in the first place.

See the system: Diverse stakeholders name and visualize the factors that are influencing a problem and explore how they may be interacting to create the problem. Through this, opportunities for "leverage" emerge – places in the system where relatively small structural change can have outsized impact.
